Our Installation Dinner promises to be a grand event for a considerably low price. Our board voted to subsidize part of the cost of the dinner to support members attending the event. Please mark your calendars for May 13 at Crow Canyon Country Club. The price is $20 per person for members, $30 for guests. An eVite has been sent to all members. Our special guest is the very inspiring Alicia Hetman, President of AAUW CA.

State and National elections are underway. All AAUW members are eligible to vote, and we strongly encourage you to cast your ballot. You must have received an e-mail with voting information including your personal voting ID number. Have you voted yet? If you need recommendations, ask a board member for guidance. The three-week voting period for CA is April 21 to May 11. The AAUW National voting is also taking place. Go to www.aauw.org or the latest Outlook magazine for the AAUW National voting information. The voting period for National is April 15 to June 10.

Another big event in May is our branch fundraiser selling ice cream at the San Ramon Art & Wind Festival. Sign up for a shift or two! It's a great way to raise money for the branch and get our association's name into the community. Our branch needs this money to fund our programs, rent meeting space, buy supplies, etc. Please contribute a few hours of your time to help accomplish this task. Volunteers in previous years have always said it is a fun thing to do.

We hope that you all saw the great letter to the editor, written by our own Susan Beyerle, in the San Ramon Valley Times newspaper on April 11. Susan addressed Equal Pay Day. She wrote about equality as it affects our families, community, and justice. She signed as Susan Beyerle, Public Policy Chair, AAUW, San Ramon Branch. Way to go, Susan!

Thanks and recognition also go to Patricia Baran, Marsha Froines, Anne Hayden, Mary Venkat, and Jane Young from AAUW California for their involvement.

Stella Hadjimarkos and Elizabeth Hoffmann,
AAUW San Ramon Co-Presidents

Public Policy

Stuck in the House

A half-century after the Equal Pay Act became law of the land, America is still struggling to attain basic pay equity across genders. If you are employed in the public sector or with the protection of a union, take a moment to consider the fair pay practices you may be taking for granted. In simple terms, gender pay inequity is a breach of the civil rights of working females and their families. The recently reintroduced Paycheck Fairness Act is a crucial step toward closing legal loopholes that have allowed this discriminatory practice to continue.

On April 11, the House of Representatives voted against bringing the Paycheck Fairness Act to a vote. I found it ironic, and absurd, that the House voted to not vote. But, that's emblematic of our deeply divided and politically entrenched legislative branch.

But, it's not over. There exists an obscure House of Representatives procedure—called a discharge petition—which automatically brings a bill to the floor if a majority (218) of the representatives sign the petition. Within a few hours of the petition being filed by Rep. Rosa DeLauro (D-CT), nearly half the required signatures had been collected.

As we wait out the petition, I wonder how any elected representative can refuse to allow the debate and vote on an issue that is a fundamental principle of our nation: equal protection under the law.

As always, I urge you to press Congress to do what we elected them to do. You may be only one voice, but together, we are many. It wouldn't hurt to keep your fingers crossed, either.

San Ramon Art & Wind Festival
Ice Cream Sale

Sunday, May 26 & Monday, May 27

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!

Do you want our branch to be able to operate this coming year? Please help out and say “yes” when you’re requested to volunteer for one shift at our ice cream sale in a few weeks.

Our branch uses your dues to fund programs and speakers, pay expenses such as room rentals, buy supplies and refreshments, provide sponsorships for Tech Trek, etc. all through the year. How do we perform this economic miracle with only $20 received per member from their dues? We sell ice cream at the San Ramon Art & Wind Festival!

We need your help at one of our three carts on Sunday, May 26 or Monday, May 27.

1st shift is 9:30 AM to 12:30 PM
2nd shift is 12:30 PM to 3:00 PM
3rd shift is 3:00 PM to 5:30 PM

It is usually fun—you get to see your neighbors and friends, and you are selling something everyone wants. Also, you work with another AAUW member as we have two people on each shift at each station, so you get to know them better. And, lastly, you help raise needed money for our branch—a win-win-win opportunity!

Please let Debbie know which date and time works best for you. Spouses and teen/adult children are welcome to help.

Thanks for your support!

Debbie Marconi, Art & Wind Festival Chair

Membership

Renew Your Membership Now to Throw Your Name in the Hat!

The AAUW year runs from July 1–June 30. Similar to all other membership organizations, renewing prior to the end keeps your membership from lapsing. May and June are membership renewal months.

Our branch was awarded three FREE national memberships (worth $49.50 each) for our efforts toward membership recruitment this year. We plan to offer these to our members in a drawing.

If you renew by May 13, the date of our Installation Dinner, by remitting your $85 check (annual dues), your name will be entered in the drawing. Or, if you prefer, you may also bring your check to the Installation Dinner.

Monday, May 13, could be your lucky day! Three winners will be selected during the dinner, and the winners will then be able to tear up their checks and write the branch new checks for $36.00 (that’s $16 for state dues plus $20 for branch dues).

Please make your $85.00 check out to San Ramon AAUW and mail* it to AAUW SR, P.O. Box 336, San Ramon, CA 94583. Or, bring your check to our installation dinner at Crow Canyon Country Club on Monday, May 13.

Please provide ample time for mail delivery. Only those checks received by May 13 will be included in the drawing.

Good luck!

Isabel Lau and Margie Goldware,
Membership Co-VPs

Money Matters

How Long Should You Keep

Financial Records?

After yet another tax season, are your file cabinets at home bulging with old documents, but you don't know what you should keep and for how long? Once you know what you don't need, join me for a Mobile Shredding Event on Saturday, May 11 from 9:30–11:30 AM at 3180 Crow Canyon Place.

Certain documents and records you keep indefinitely, but they are too important to retain in an ordinary file drawer. If they are stolen or destroyed by a catastrophe such as flood or fire, replacing them could be difficult, if not impossible. One of the best places to retain such items is a safety deposit box. A home safe is another option, provided that it is adequately rated to protect contents from fire, water, explosions (gas leaks), and other calamities. Documents deserving extra protection include:

- Property deeds,
- Trust documents,
- Insurance policies,
- Automobile titles,
- Stock and bond certificates,
- Wills and estate plans,
- Personal property inventory,
- Marriage and birth certificates,
- Military discharge papers, and
- Passports.

Tip: There may be times when you need to know certain information contained on documents you've placed in safekeeping but don't need the actual document. Avoid the inconvenience of obtaining the original documents by making copies of them to keep in your regular files.

For records other than the above, different records need to be saved for different periods of time. There are no concrete rules about how long records must be saved, so you will often have to use your own judgment. Here are some guidelines:

Short-term (one–three years):

- Household bills, except those that support tax deductions (items such as heat, water, and electricity are generally short-term unless you deduct them for home office use or a rental),
- Expired insurance policies;

Medium-term (six–seven years):

- Tax returns and supporting information,
- Income and expense records (including lottery tickets and winnings),
- Bank and credit union statements,
- Brokerage house statements,
- Canceled checks and check registers (checks for major purchases may be kept longer),
- Paid-off loan documents,
- Personal property sales receipts;

Long-term (indefinitely):

- Tax dispute records,
- Evidence of retirement plan contributions,
- Investment records,
- Medical history information,
- Pension/retirement plan documents,
- Social Security information;

Other (as noted):

- Home ownership/sale documents: seven (7) years after sale or indefinitely, and
- Home improvement records: seven (7) years after sale.

Caution: The IRS typically has three (3) years after a return is filed to audit a return or two (2) years after you've paid the tax, whichever is later. However, if income was underreported by at least 25 percent, the IRS can look back six years after the return is filed, and there is no time limit for fraudulent tax returns. An audit requires that you provide documentation to substantiate the return being audited.

Don't forget to send in your financial questions to diane@oaktreewealth.com. All responses will be kept confidential.

Local Scholarship

Alameda County Fair Fundraiser

Volunteers Needed!

It's not too late to volunteer to work a shift or two at the Alameda County Fair this summer to help raise money for local scholarships. Every year the Alameda County Fair needs volunteers. If the volunteers are with a non-profit group, such as AAUW, they will get paid $4 per hour during the day and $5 per hour in the evening. The dates are Wednesday, June 19 through Sunday, July 7.

Volunteers get free parking and entrance for each day they sign up to work a shift. You can also do two shifts in one day! Seniors (age 62 for the fair) get into the fair free on Thursdays, which allows you to give a friend your free ticket for that day if you volunteer to work on a Thursday.

Volunteers sign up for the shifts they prefer and the locations at which they choose to work. The different areas were described in detail in previous e-mails sent April 12 and April 23. I (Sally Scholl) will keep track of everyone's shifts via e-mail. Our AAUW branch will be given the money we earned in September. Anyone 16 or over can volunteer.

Please contact Sally Scholl if you can help or have questions.

Sally Scholl, San Ramon AAUW Alameda County Fair Fundraiser Coordinator

Scholarship Awards Update

The Local Scholarship Committee has received 10 applications for a scholarship this year.

We are again very pleased with the caliber of candidates. They have all demonstrated academic excellence and involvement with both school and community. Three of these students attend California High School and seven are from Dougherty Valley High School. We are currently reviewing all of these packets and will meet on April 25 to select our finalists. Interviews will take place on May 2 to determine our recipients for this year. We will introduce these young women to you at our Installation Dinner on May 13.

The Renaissance Scholar recipients from Cal State University East Bay will be chosen in the summer and introduced in September at the annual Membership Brunch.

Your donations and support as members make it possible for us to offer these scholarships. We thank you again for your generosity. These scholarships have a direct and positive impact on the lives of the young women who are our recipients, both for local high schools and CSU East Bay Renaissance Scholars.

We hope many of you will be able to participate in our current fundraiser by volunteering at the Alameda County Fair in June/July. Please note the newsletter article at left and contact information from our AAUW Scholarship representative, Sally Scholl, and contact her as soon as possible.

Tech Trek

The selection process for the 2013 Tech Trek camp is complete. The following students have been chosen to attend camp this year at Sonoma State from June 23–29:

Amisha Kambath (Windemere)
Alison Lee (Windemere)
Amanda Mount (Windemere)
Ariyana Kermanizadeh (Pine Valley)
Aysha Patel (Windemere)
Jessica Chao (Iron Horse)

We also chose the following girls as alternates in the event that one of the selected campers cannot attend camp: Ria Arora (Windemere) and Resha Panda (Windemere).

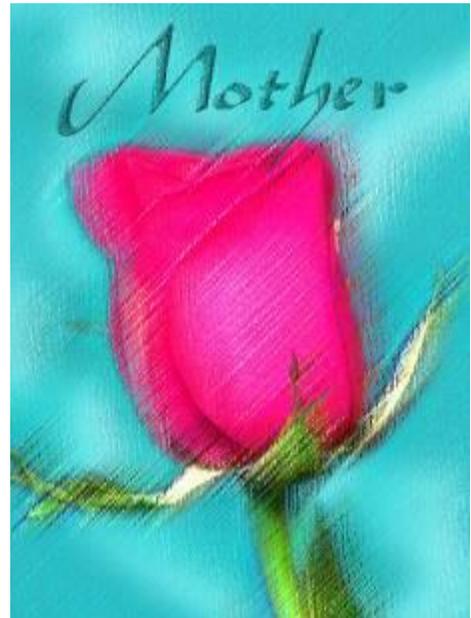

Sadly, Gale Ranch Middle School did not nominate any students again this year. However, we are thrilled with the students who were nominated from Windemere, Pine Valley, and Iron Horse. It was a difficult task again this year to choose the finalists.

I had a terrific group of ladies helping me this year with the Tech Trek selection process and I really appreciate the time and effort that each of them put into learning each of their respective segments of the process. I broke the selection process down into about five separate segments this year and there was a point person who then either handled their segment on their own or assembled a subcommittee to help them carry out the duties associated with their portion of the selection process. I give a special thank you to Kandy Fitch and Renu Deshpande for sending out the selection criteria to the various schools; to Deb Marconi for sending the essay packets to nominees and gathering the applications and essays; to Marsha Froines and Stella Hadjimarkos for assembling the subcommittee to read and score the essays; to Chris Burchik for assembling the interview panel, conducting the interviews, and selecting the finalists; and to Lucy Weed for notifying the finalists and the alternates, and gathering the required documentation from the finalists. A special thank you to the essay reading committee (comprising Cindy Alpert, Marsha Froines, Stella Hadjimarkos, Faye Issacson, and Joy Perkins) and the interview panel (comprising Judy Bracken, Chris Burchik, Sia Sauer, and Lucy Weed). I acted as the pilot, and sometimes the flight crew by filling in at the transitions between segments, keeping in contact with the State Director and the teachers, and handling the many questions and concerns from parents.

There are still more “segments” occurring and more to come with Tech Trek. So, more thanks are in order: Renu Deshpande is the point person who is shepherding us through the Ice Cream Social (the pre-camp event to get our campers’ [and their parents’] questions answered before they head off to camp); and Sherri Hedman has volunteered to write thank-you notes to those generous individuals (and sometimes, corporations) that donate to Tech Trek. And there are still the fundraising efforts that need to occur to put monies into the coffers for next year. Of course, we are always happy to accept any donations, however big or small, to Tech Trek! Again, I am truly grateful to those individuals who helped to make Tech Trek such a success again this year. Stay tuned for more information as our campers attend and return from Sonoma State. You will meet them personally at the September brunch!

Reading Society's Book Review of our April read: Carter Beats the Devil, by Glen David Gold

At our April meeting, the Reading Society interest group decided we should submit short reviews of that month's book for inclusion in the branch newsletter. Those who did not attend the meeting may thus learn what fellow members said about that month's book, and non-group members may better assess what books to put, or not put, on their reading lists. In April, about 10 of us discussed Carter Beats the Devil by native Californian Glen David Gold. There was consensus that we recommend this book as an entertaining and fun read; it's a "hoot." Things we like about the book: It's based on a real person (Carter the Great, an American and internationally known magician who died in 1936), it's set in the San Francisco Bay Area, there's a lot of history, and we like the story—the book's main theme of magic. There was only one thing we didn't like: It's kind of long at ~500 pages.
